Flagstaff is fortunate at this time in having such well-constructed streets. There is hardly a foot of street within the city limits that is in any but the finest condition, notwithstanding the large volume of water that has originated from the melting snow. The only exception is a patch of road leading to Milton—and that is outside the limits.

Quite extensive preparations are being made for the closing exercises of the Emerson High School, and for the commencement exercises at night. There will be three members in the graduating class. Excellent music will be furnished and all the friends and patrons are most cordially invited. The closing exercises will take place on the afternoon of April 15. The commencement exercises will be on the night of the same date.

United States District Attorney Ellinwood states that he is in no way connected with any telephone enterprise. His reported connection with a telephone system to be constructed in Graham county is erroneous and untrue. Going to Solomonville from Phoenix one day a few weeks ago, Charles Canall asked him to be the bearer of a letter to a well known citizen of Solomonville. This letter referred to the proposed telephone enterprise and that is how the report originated.

A rare treat was in store for our people last night and they didn't know it. J. Arthur Loining, an eloquent, impersonator and mimic of renown, was to appear at the opera house, but owing to some misunderstanding the entertainment was indefinitely postponed. Mr. Loining is an actor and impersonator of no mean power and we sincerely hope he will give the people here another opportunity to hear and see him. LATER—Mr. Loining has been induced to stop over and will appear at the opera house this evening; be sure to hear him.

A sad accident happened at Williams Monday afternoon. Three little girls, Mazy Gray, daughter of E. N. Gray, Maggie Brady and Nellie O'Brien were playing along the edge of Cataract creek. Maggie fell into the creek and little Mazy jumped in after her to save her. Maggie succeeded in gaining the bank and getting out of the chilly waters, but the swift current carried the brave little Mazy some distance down the stream and before assistance could reach her she was drowned. The grief-stricken parents have the sympathy of the people of Williams in their sad bereavement. Little Mazy was a general favorite with everybody and her playmates deeply feel her loss. The funeral was held Tuesday and was largely attended.

Hear Loining to-night; opera house.
